Local Race Boat Wins 2010 World Championship

Local powerboat team, Driver Scott Brown and Trottleman Eddie Tamberino of Englewood, Florida won the Class P-3 2010 World Championship in Key West this past weekend. Eddie Tamberino said "The Team has been in competition for 8 years and this is absolutely the highlight of our mutual racing careers." Time Bandit and Absolutely Not came in second and third place respectively.

The sponsors also are Sarasota-based companies with a common thread of environmental concern. The partnership consisting of AquaNew, L.L.C. (manufacturer of Watt-Ahh® bottled ultra-pure polarized water), Two Trails Green Consulting, and WIT International, L.L.C. involved in water ion technologies in the green energy sector, also purchased carbon credits so the race boat is the first known carbon-neutral powerboat in competition. Rob Gourley, CEO of AquaNew, L.L.C. and one of the mechanics for the race boat, expressed his delight with the outcome this weekend. Gourley said "It was a hard fought battle with several of the race boats capsizing due to rough sea conditions. We understand those team members injured during the races will recover.

Our competition, particularly Time Bandit, kept us sharp and it might have been a different outcome if the seas were calm. We congratulate Scott and Eddie and all of the other teams for their phenomenal racing tenacity and ability.”

Gourley also said the team would not have won without the support of other local businesses that supplied parts and services to keep the boat race ready. These business included Yow’s Automotive Machine Shop, Silliman Fluid Power, Innovation Marine, Leading Edge Propeller, Alro Metals and Fastenal that met tight deadlines to get the boat ready for this season’s races and the World Championship in Key West.
